INTRODUCING STEVEN SMITH

Steven Smith grew up with a love of music and started performing at a very young age with his family. When his dad was speaking at churches he would always bring the kids along to perform old gospel songs before the sermon. Steven went on to join the U.S Coast Guard and after serving four years in Hilo, HI, he ended his active duty in Oakland, CA. He started writing his own songs while in the service so upon his exit he decided to pursue a full-time career in music. He quickly formed the group Flipsyde which led to a record deal with Interscope Records. The group experienced fast success writing the theme song for the Winter Olympics in 2006 which opened the doors for multiple worldwide tours. Again in 2008 the band's song Champion was chosen as a song to represent the Summer Olympic Games.

DIRECTOR OF WORSHIP ARTS

Throughout his life Steven always loved praise and worship music and would lead worship at his Uncle's church from time to time when visiting. He is very excited to start a new chapter in his life using his talents and gifts for the body of Christ and hopes to have a long career serving the Lord through his music.

"In the short time that I have come to know Steven, one word encapsulates my impression of him -- Genuine. He has had varied life experiences along with success and trials, yet he has emerged as a humble servant of God. When you interact with Steven personally or through worship on Sunday, you are seeing the real deal, a person who loves God and his people." - Joe Niemeyer

"I have been blessed worshipping alongside Steven in the last few months. His love for the Lord and humility in serving with us has touched my heart. I am grateful that Steven will be leading this summer and I pray that the Lord will use him to build up hearts devoted to Jesus." - Linda Kemp
